Student Life

Hail to thee our Alma Mater
School we love so dear
With our friends and fellow comrades
We spend our happy years.

Though we leave we'll always cherish
Memories old and new
Hail to thee our Denison High School
We are all for you.

This school year was basically the same as any school year, we studied — had fun, experienced sad moments of trial and error. There were games and dances,

Voices were hoarse from Pep Rally rooting and singing. There were brief moments of glory for some in sports, musical, or dramatic productions. All shared the hopeless reality of Examinations and deadlines, the semester grades, the noon time rush in the parking lots. These impressions are only a few that were packed into this full year.

Credit for the production of this book goes to the Yellow Jacket Annual Staff. The staff, however, has furnished only the outlines of the story that you find when you turn these pages filled with warm smiles of friendship

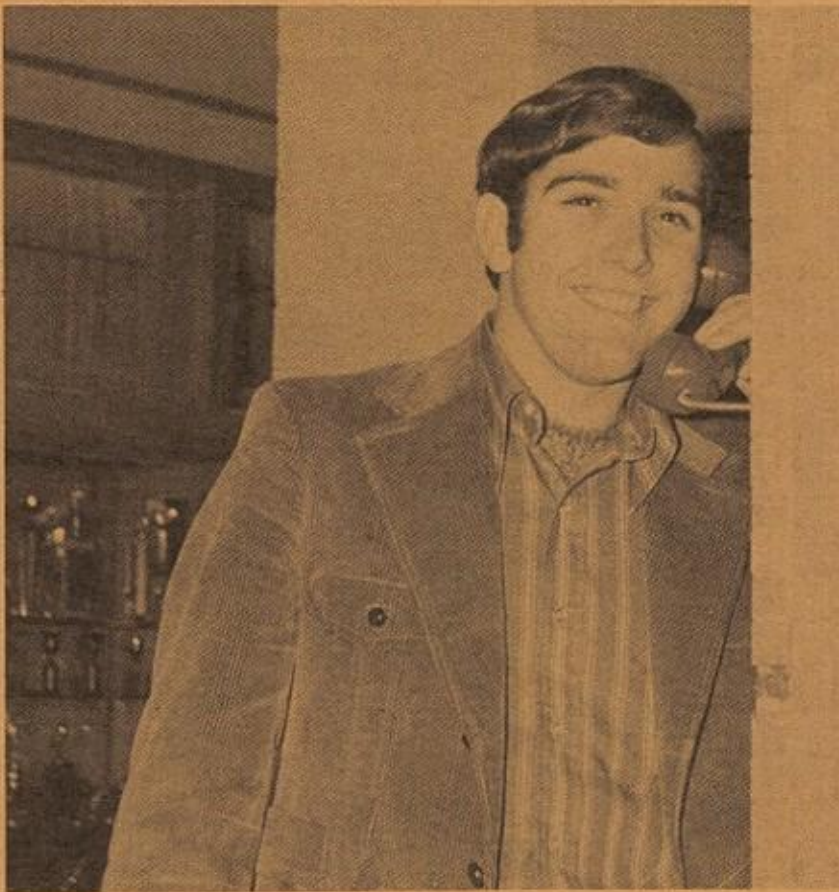

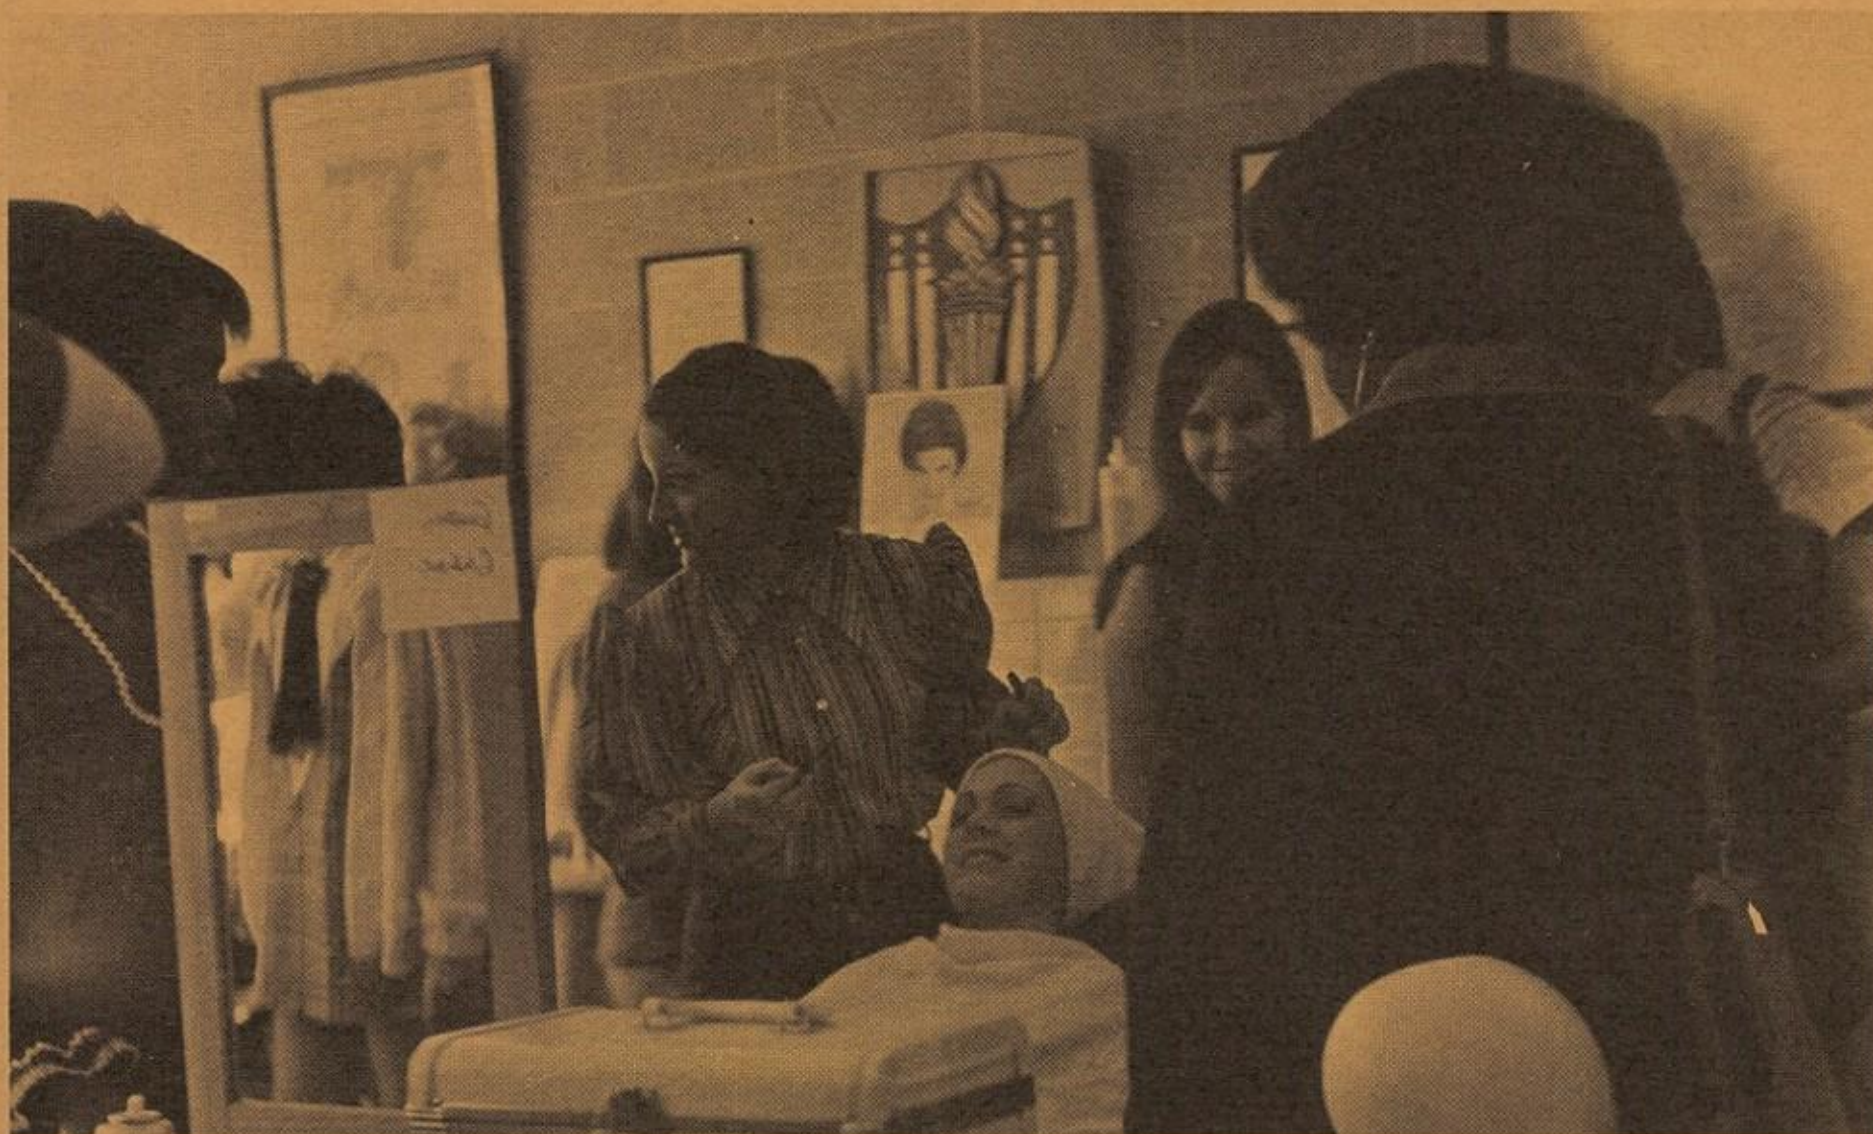

And many happy recollections. The rest is up to the individual. Underclassmen who return to D.H.S. in the fall will continue to keep up the high standards of the school and Strive for improvement. Graduates will go their separate ways using the knowledge they have gained here to strive for success.

It is not today that you will appreciate the Yellow Jacket. Tomorrow, when it is not so easy to think back on 1971, you will treasure the memories this book has stored through its theme:

ACADEMICS

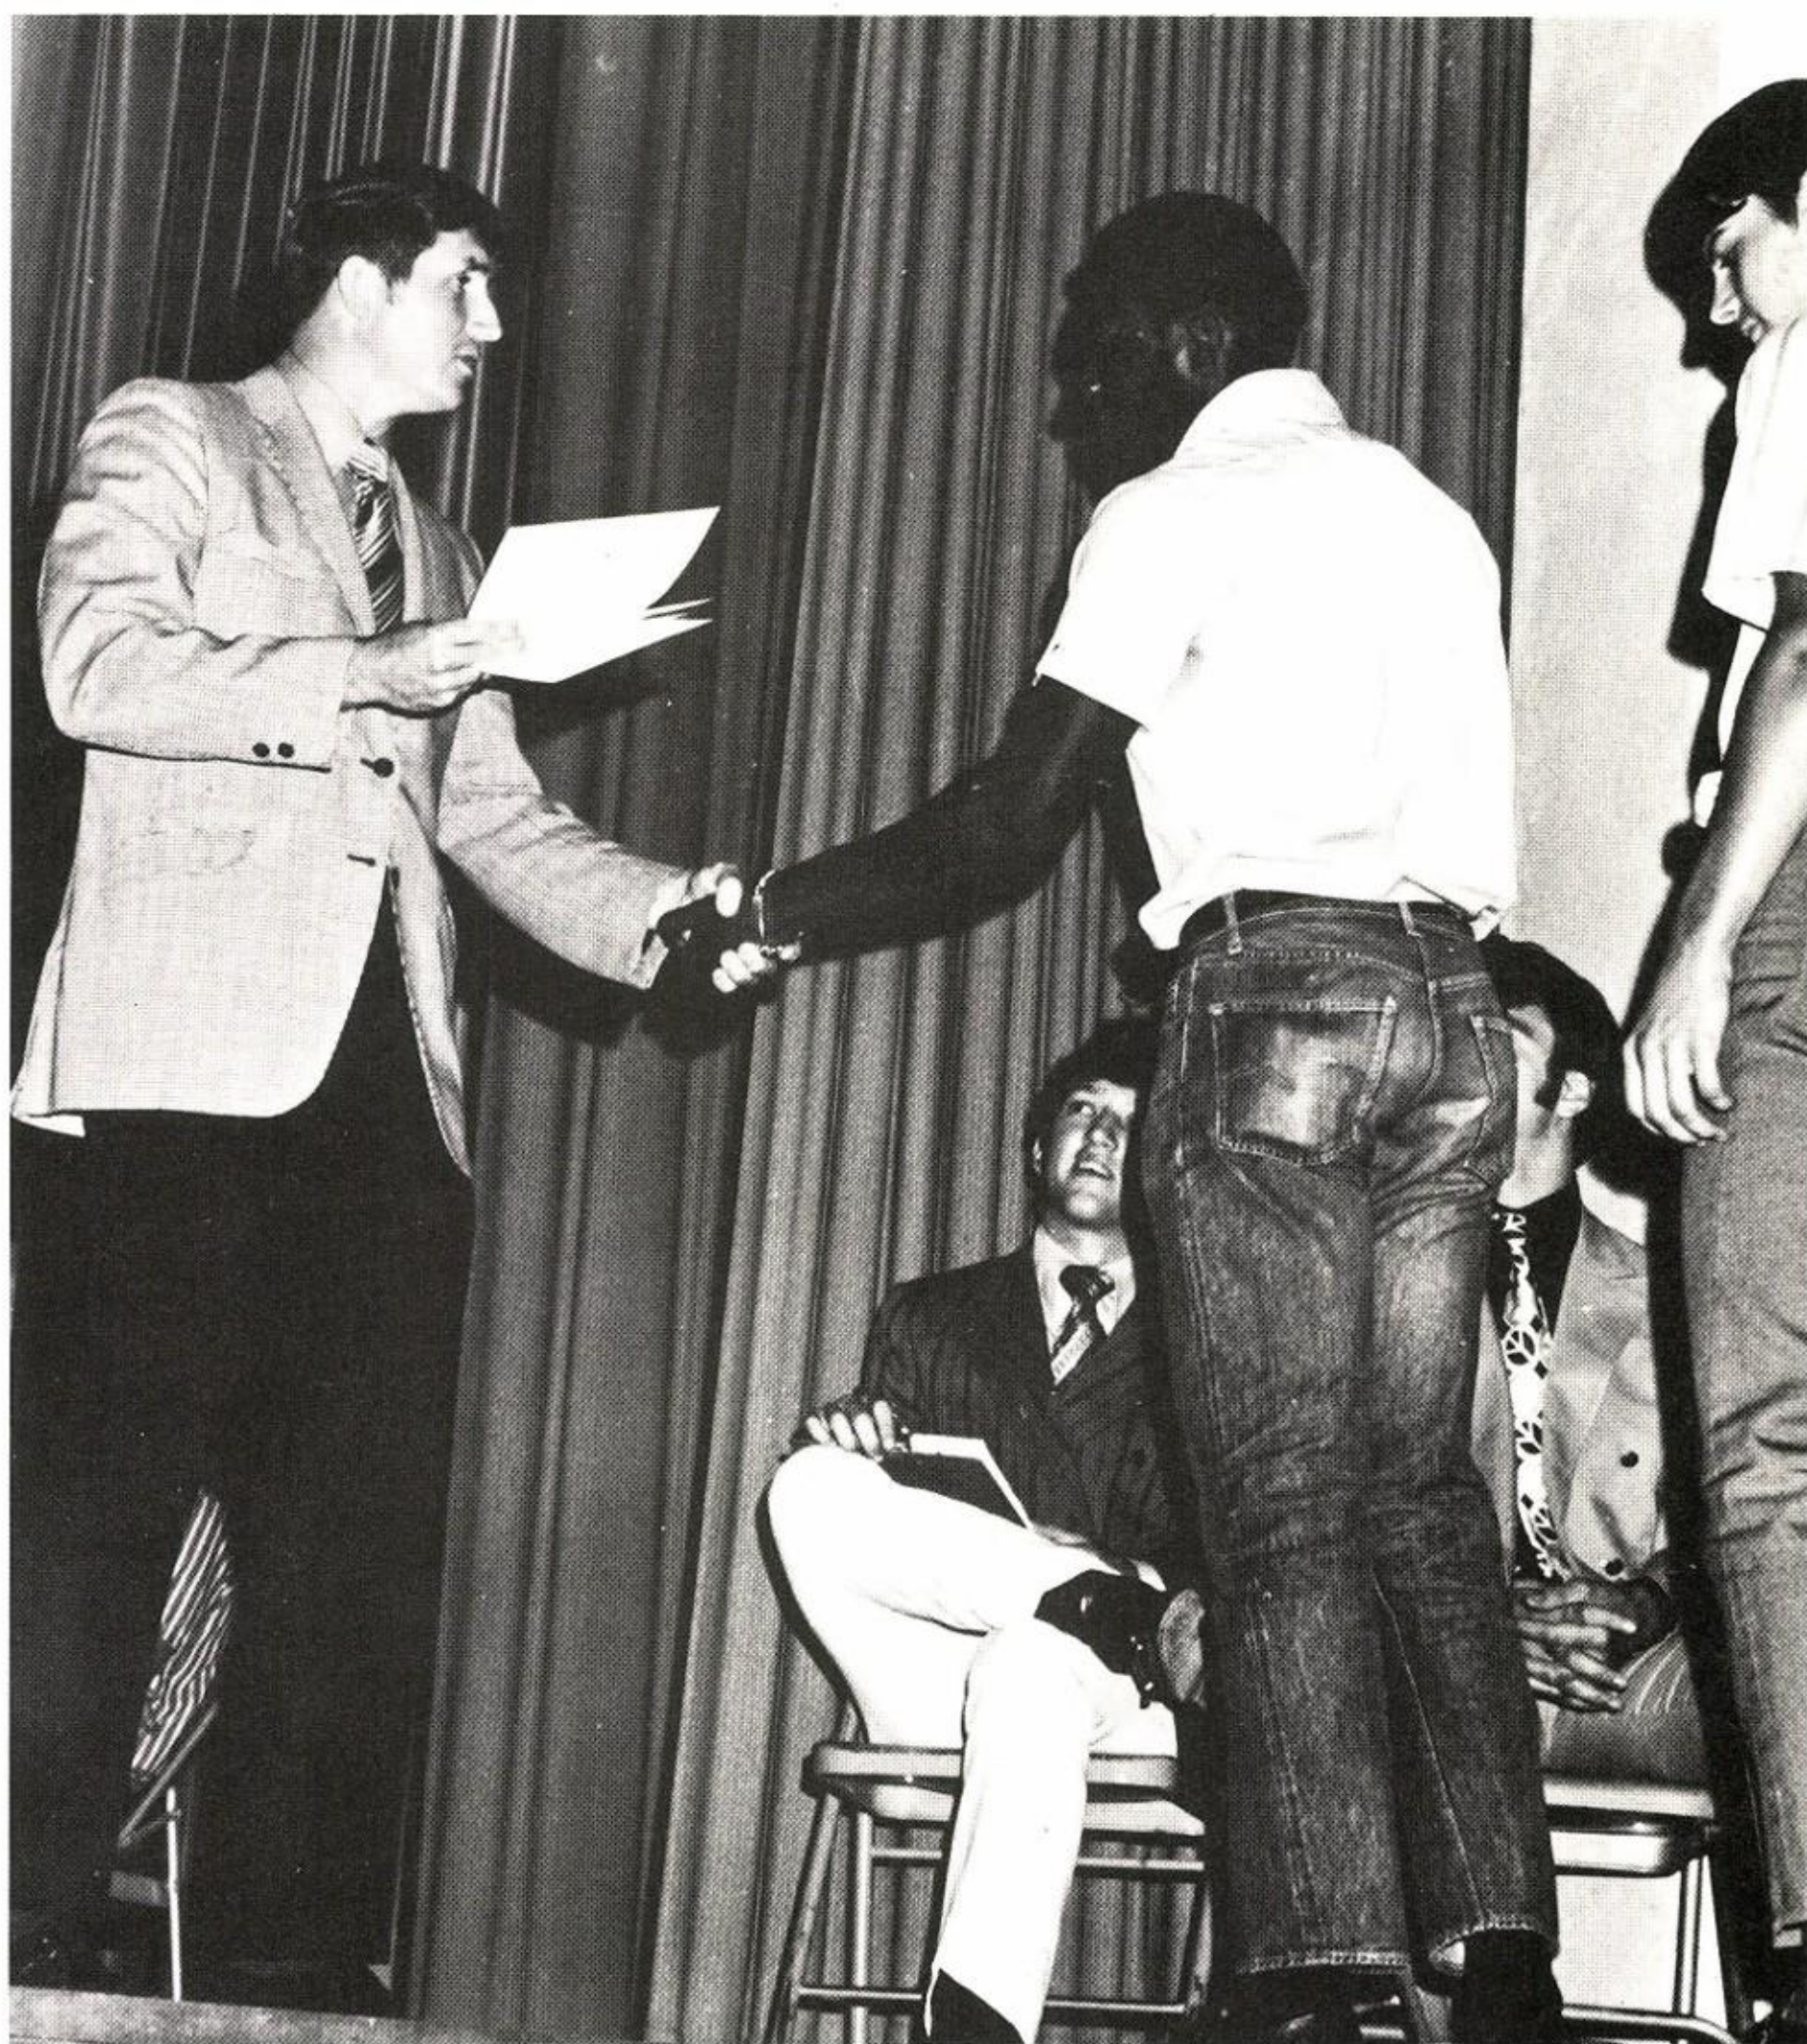

JANICE HAWKINS, Editor

Awards and Achievements

Rhonda Skaggs, general president of Y-Teens, has given much of herself in service through this organization. Mrs. Carpenter, head sponsor, had the privilege to present her with the annual Y-Teen Cup of Complete Girlhood.

Awards and Achievements

The President's Physical Fitness Award is one of the highest personal honors one can receive. Only a very few physical education students ever achieve the standards set down for this award. Richard Bryant is shown here being presented this certificate from Coach Scott.

Awards and Achievements

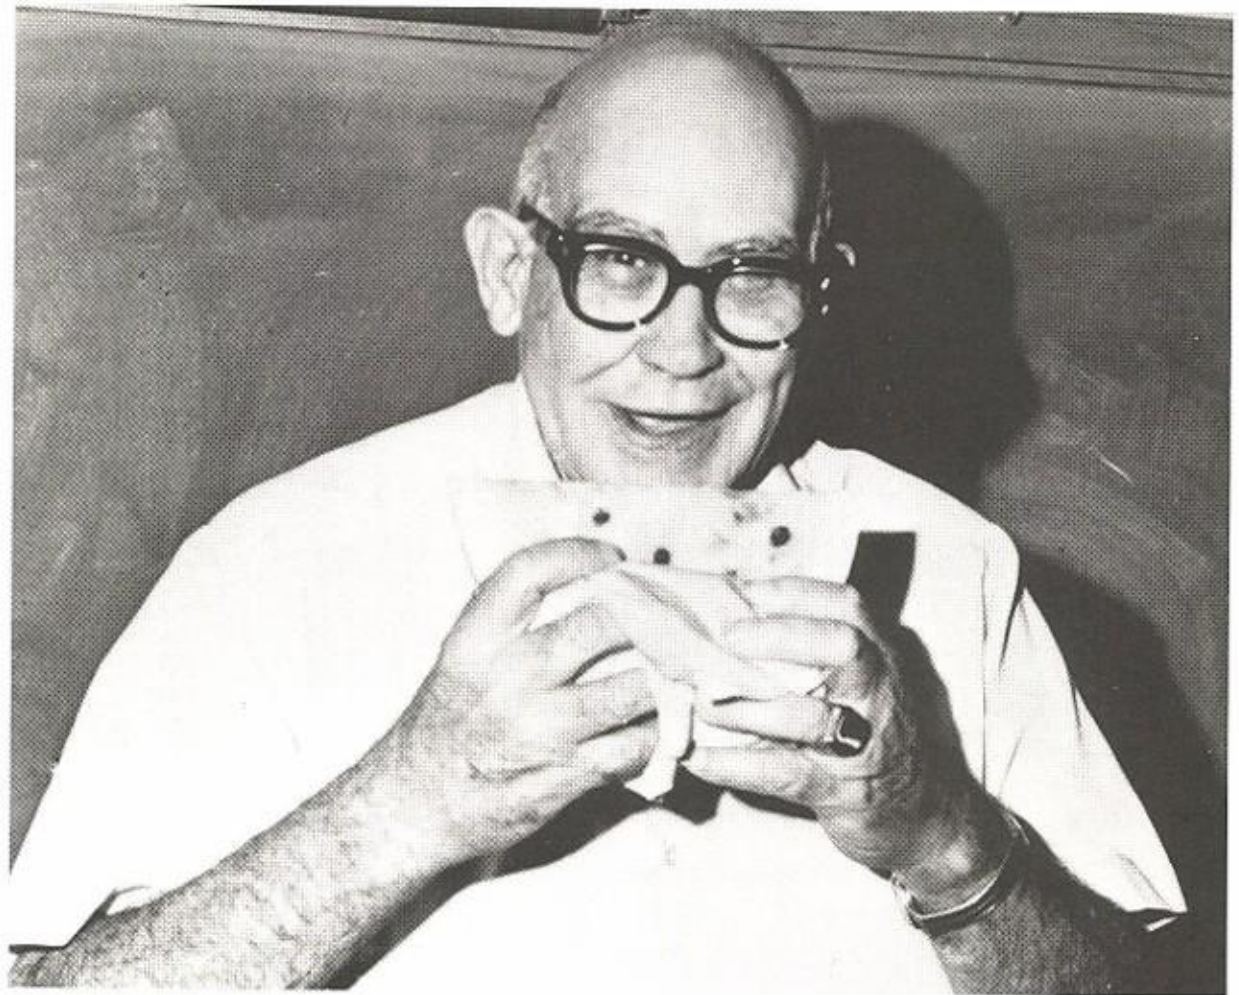

John Derichsweiler, Student Council President, receives a gift presented to him by Mrs. Sullivan for the leadership he has shown throughout the year.

Twenty students were named for academic awards and received letter sweaters for their achievements. Named were English II, Alan Rister and Esther Fry; Biology, David Garvin and Leslie Kupka; Geometry, Loyd Hutson and Sheryl Overturf; English III, Samuel Henry and Lois Thompson; American History, Roy Scott and Melanie Lee; Chemistry, Ben Willis and Susan Williams; Algebra II, Ken Corcoran and Brenda Odle; English IV, John Dornstadter and Mary Langford; Physics, David Turner and Mary Sullenberger; and Trigonometry, Geoffrey Morrison and Susan Vogel.

Salute to Retiring Teachers

For the many years of teaching government to Seniors, Mr. Worth Walter was presented a piece of watermelon by some of his students.

Seniors are taught study skills by Mrs. Myrtle Carpenter. She has taught for 40 years, 9 of them at DHS. She is general Y-Teen sponsor for sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Her last act as sponsor of this organization was the presentation of the Y-Teen cup of complete girlhood to Rhonda Skaggs, general president.

The task of teaching government to seniors is credited to Mr. Walter. He has taught for 33 years, 4 of them at DHS. He was also senior class sponsor. His main task in Senior Day activities was being in charge of admitting students into Loy Lake Park.

Mrs. Myrtle Carpenter is shown here taking a bite of her "retiring teacher" present.

School Board

MR. BRUCE HIBBITT
President

The board of education is composed of men giving of their time to meet together in order that they may work toward the betterment of our school system. They are responsible for the school policies, school employment and the improvement of the school buildings. This year the school board has passed for the students of DHS a written dress code composed by a representative group of students. The dress code has met with favorable and unfavorable attitudes but in general it is another step ahead made possible by the school board.

Students of Denison High:

Congratulations on your achievements during 1971. Your record indicates that you have made a significant effort to improve as individuals and to make a worthwhile contribution for your classmates. This philosophy will pay rich dividends to each of you during your adventure in life. Please accept the challenge to always do your best.

Sincerely yours,

MR. BILL L. JACOBS

MR. VAUGHN R. SMITH

Principal

In his book, Peace with God, Dr. Billy Graham states that an individual starts on the "Great Quest" the moment he is born. He was speaking of the spiritual quest. I believe this and more. I feel a man also starts his quest for knowledge the moment he is born. Although he may be deterred along the way by unimportant things, he should establish his goals early in life and strive to reach them.

May I urge each of you to set your goals high. Please remember that it may be necessary at times to stand aside from the crowd to follow your quest for knowledge and understanding.

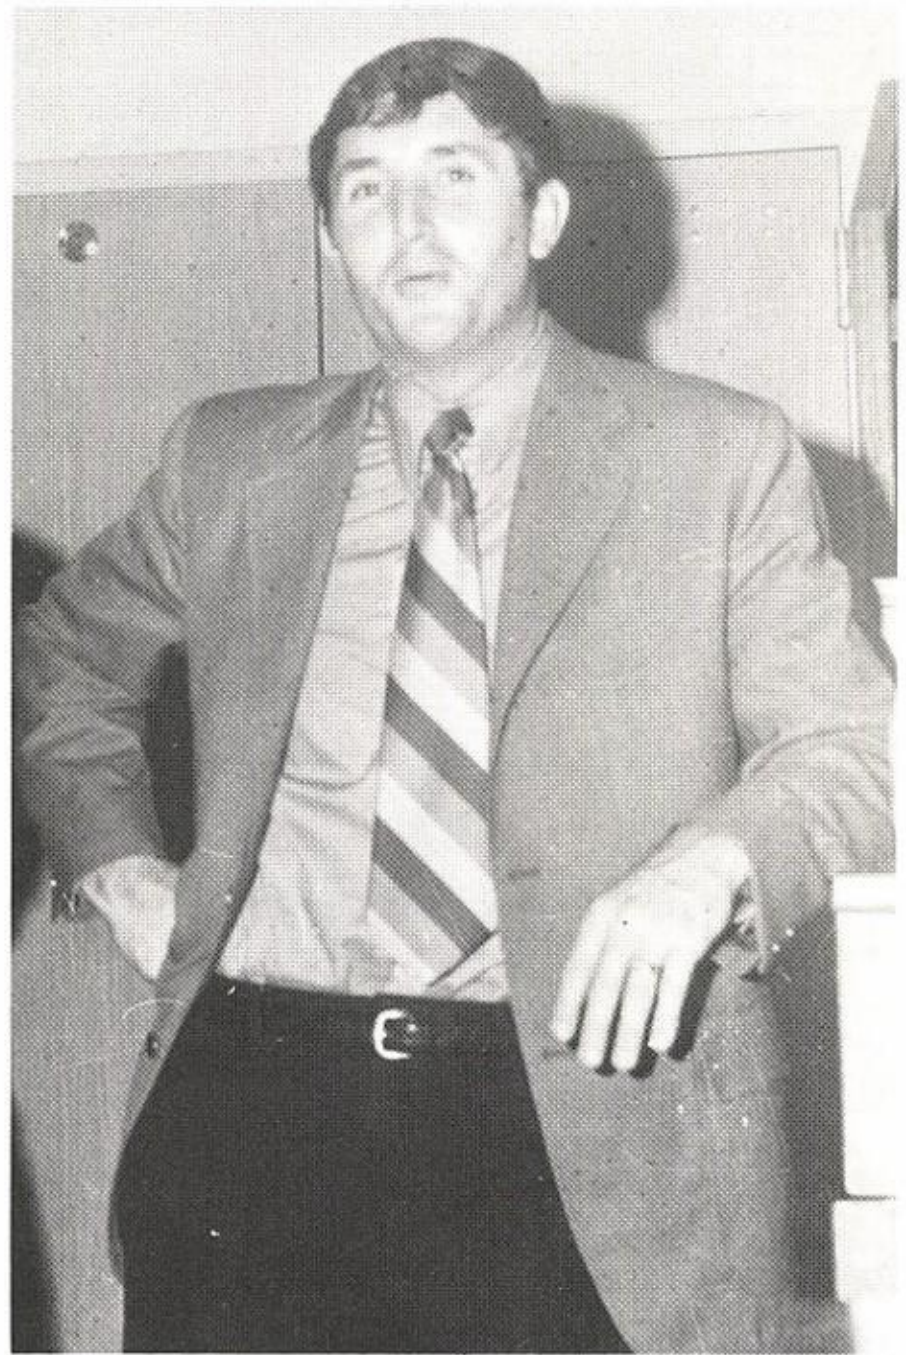

Lyndol Irby, Principal
Denison Senior High School

Assistant Principals

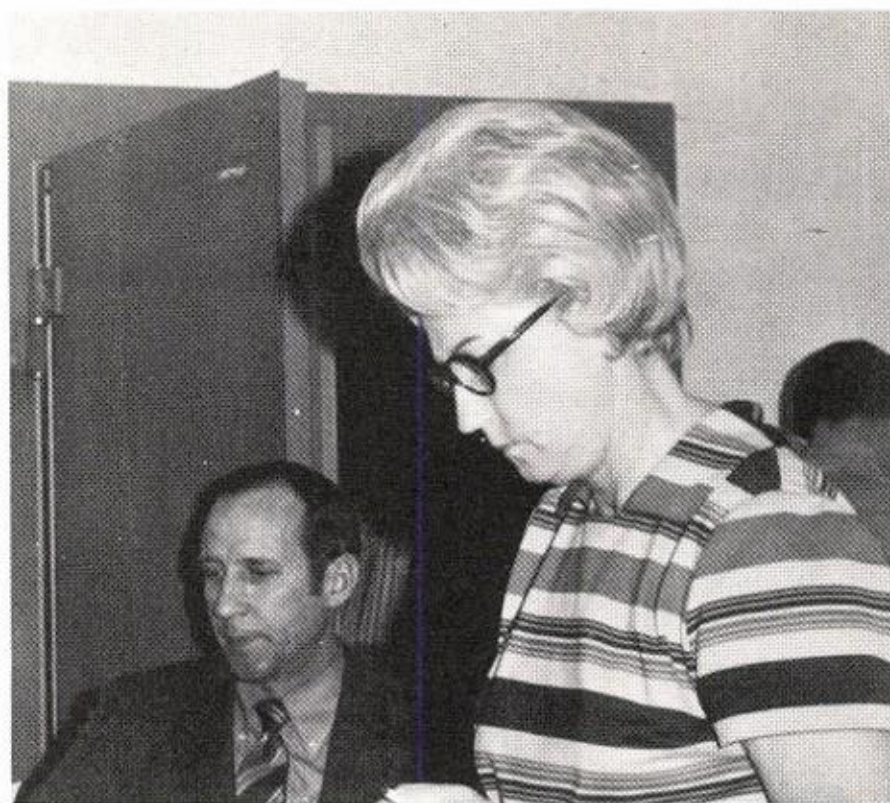

Always making themselves available to those in need of assistance are Mr. George Petrus (above), Mr. George Corky Bowling (below) and Mr. Henry Scott (right). Though the numerous jobs belonging to an assistant principal are very much essential to the smooth operation of a school, many times they go unheralded.

The newest addition to the title of assistant principal is Mr. Scott. He along with Mr. Petrus and Mr. Bowling successfully bridge the gap between students and administration.

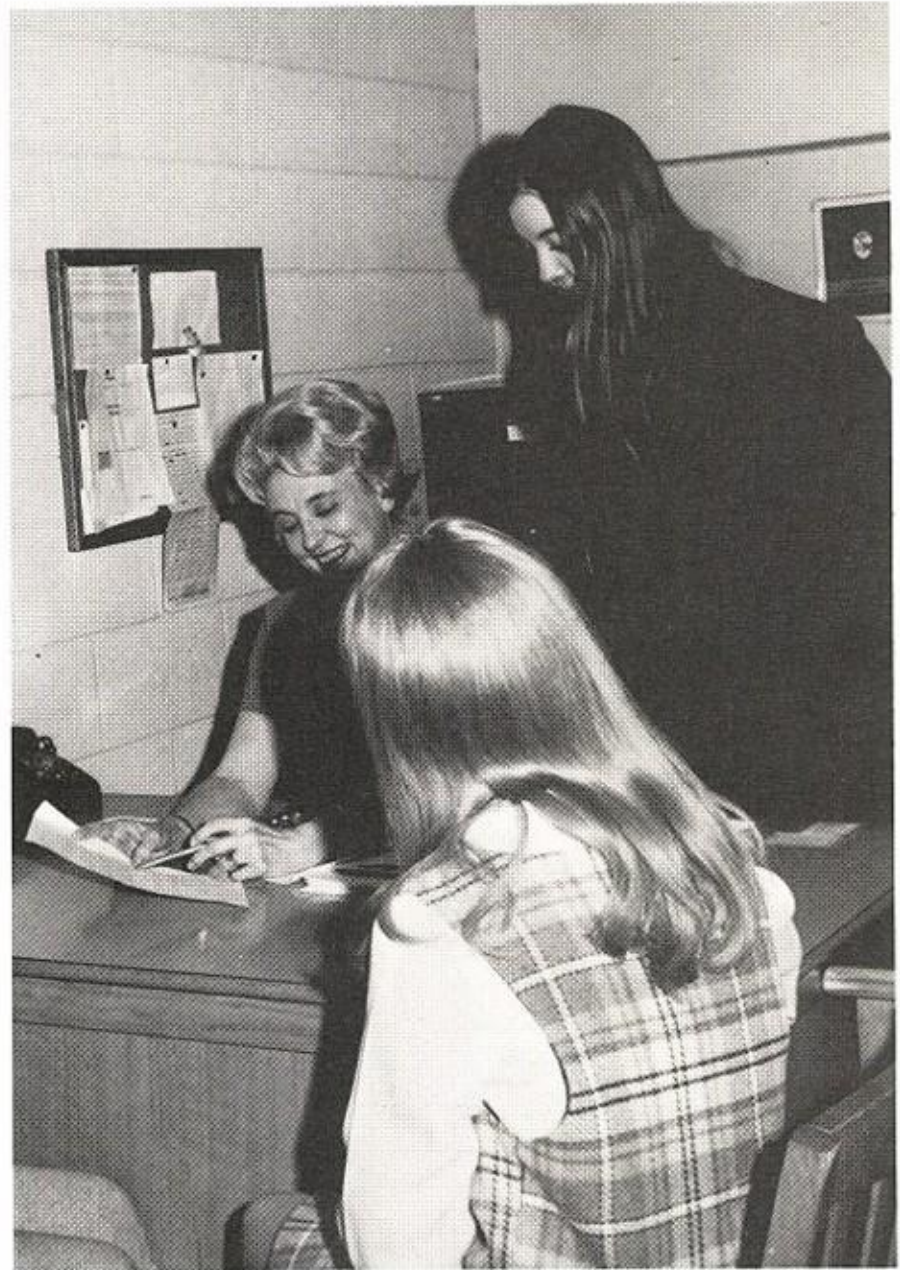

Secretaries

Always willing to be of assistance to all who come into the office, Mrs. Nelda Redding (left) and Mrs. Opal White (below) master the problems of daily school life. Patience is reflected in the workings of these two women with students, faculty and the principal, and the second mile is trod upon every day.

Counselors

Priceless living packages of understanding are Mrs. Grace Sullivan (right), Mrs. Karen Hopkins (above) and Mr. Ige Stevens (top). These three share a part of themselves each day ministering to students' needs while enjoying every minute of it. Though students and counselors differ in opinions occasionally, there is still a bond that brings them together when there is a serious problem to be solved or a joy to be shared.

To speak the English language properly is one of the best compliments one can bestow on his fellow man. In the English Department communication is broken down and reassembled in order that the students may understand and appreciate its worth. The study of the short story, the novel, and poetry also help to enrich the lives of those students who are willing to grasp their instructional values.

To produce responsible, civic-minded citizens is the main goal of the Social Studies Department. Students are taught the "hows" and the "whys" of our state's, and our nation's and our world's basic structural foundation along with an understanding of the peoples that made it so. For those who feel that this country is in need of a change, maybe a better look at what makes up our nation's government and the rights an individual does and does not possess would ignite thoughts into actions of improvement.

If a student enjoys school he will get more out of it and project himself into its many outlets. With the various courses offered the student cannot help but have at least one high point in his six-hour day. The Miscellaneous Department also contains those who help the student outside the classroom. The library would not be the haven of companionable solitude it is if it were not for the smiling assistance of the librarians. For those who need a friend, the school has its own visiting teachers.

The purpose of the Student Council is to enlist the interest of all D.H.S. students in extra curricular activities and promote student participation in these activities. Each year the Student Council sponsors many activities to keep the students involved in their school. At the beginning of the year they assist in enrollment procedures and have a Howdy Mixer for students to become acquainted. They held a dance and holdup to collect money for the March of Dimes. This is the second year D.H.S. has raised more money for this cause in competition with Sherman. The council also hosted the District Convention this year. They sent Christmas cards to veterans and collected toys for Terrell State School. To promote spirit, the Student Council sponsored Quiet Day, a friendship supper before the Sherman game, homecoming parade, telegram to the football team and assisted with the dress code. For their money making project this year the Student Council sponsored "Cyrano DeBergerac," a play presented by the Casa Manana players.

Highlight of the Cosmetology II girls' two years is when they attended State Board Examination in Austin, May 17. These include selling candy, having bake sales, making heart-o-grams to be given close to Valentines Day, and sponsoring a style show with FTA members as models. Members also participated in District Convention at Austin College and State Convention at Houston. During public education week, members presented a program for the elementary schools. They also provided refreshments in the teachers lounges at DHS. This year the club named an outstanding Teacher of the Month chosen by FTA members.

"The coaches of DHS do a great deal of hard work in preparing our athletic teams for competition. Whether the season is a good one or a bad one, their dedication to the students and the school never falters. A-Team Cheerleaders

The A-team cheerleaders, sponsored by Mrs. Karen Hopkins, put in many untold hours for DHS. During the football and basketball seasons they lead cheers at the games, organize and participate in the pep rallies and supervise the making of the signs and posters by the spirit committee. Several of the cheerleaders also serve DHS by holding offices in clubs or having various honorary titles. Through the efforts of this group which starts with a cheerleader summer camp and ends with the school year DHS is made a spirit-filled school not only in sports but in the school itself.

The assemblies this year were numerous and varied. Below: Tom Lester, Bill, Dave, and Mary entertain before a talk by Richard Hogue. At right Russ Kane receives his letter jacket from Coach Meyers.

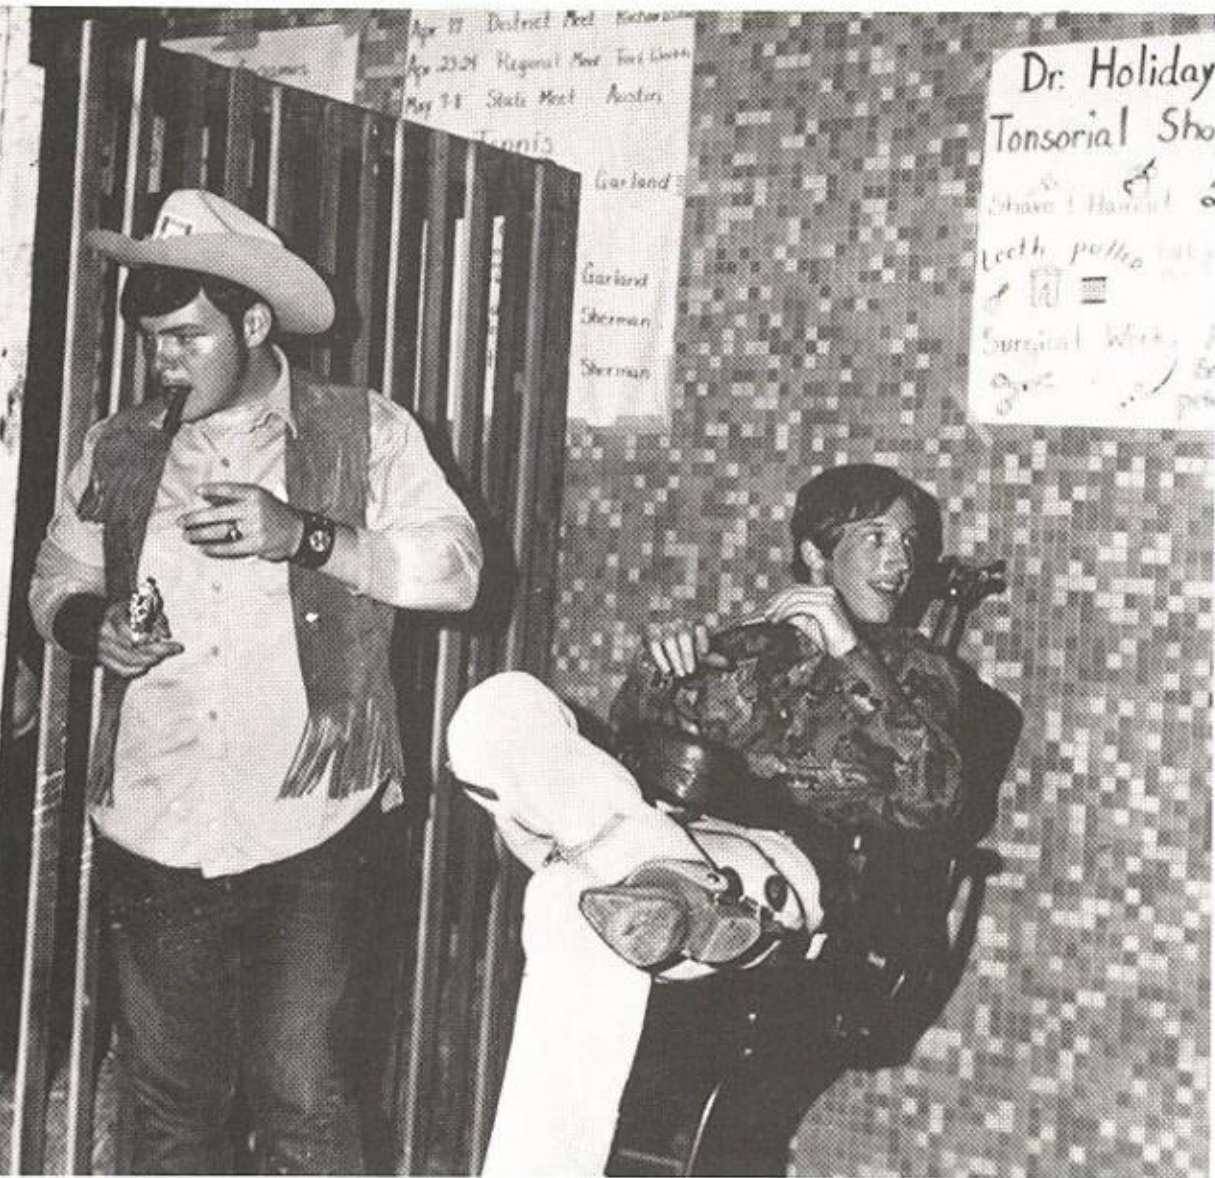

Other assemblies were the favorites awards presented by the annual staff and a talk on drugs by a former drug addict.

Western day is one of the largest activities sponsored by the student council. For the first time this year they had a chair from the tonsorial parlor. During western day assembly, awards were given for the best dressed and best beard.

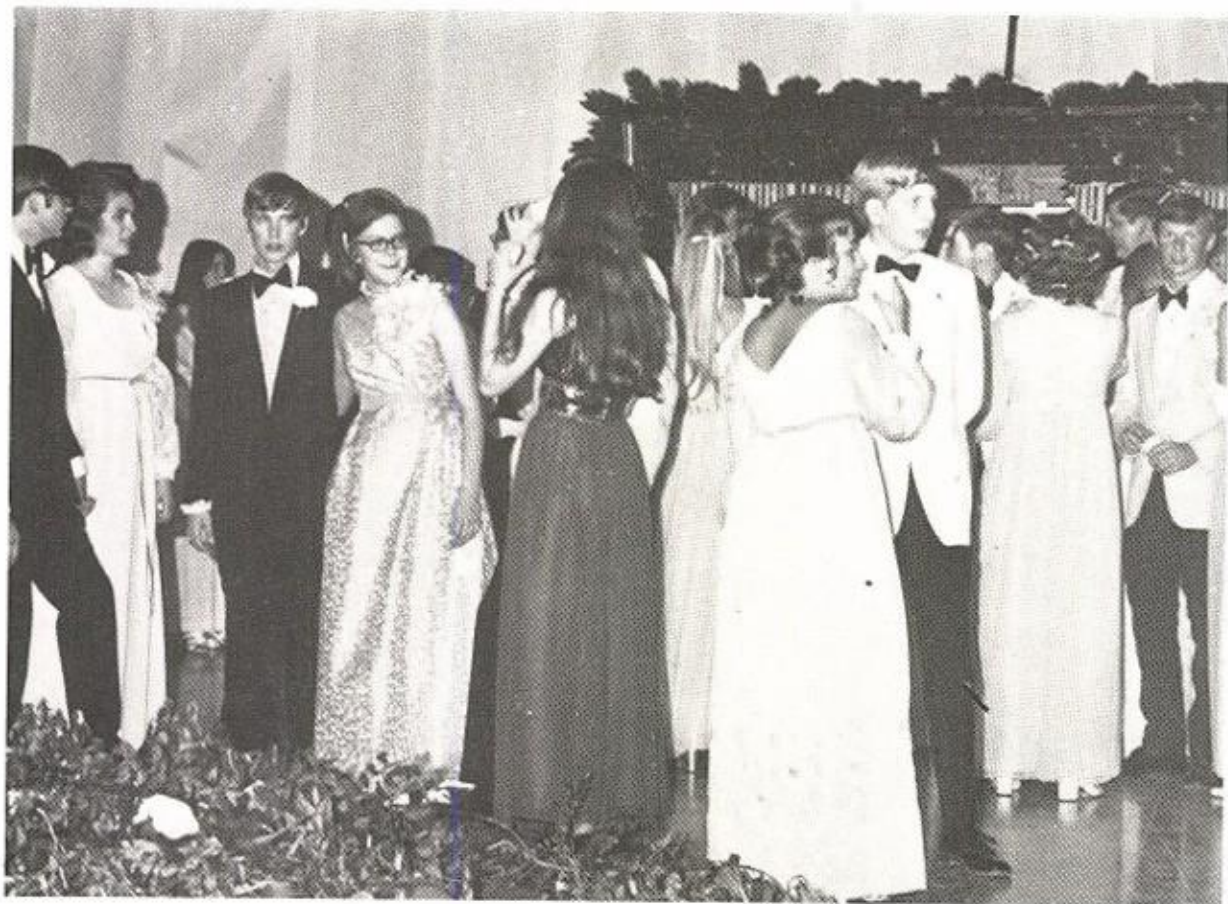

On the opposite page the white rabbit helps represent the theme of the spring formal. Below: Seniors wait for the ending of a style show. Both of these activities are sponsored by Y-teens. At left athletes and their dates are preparing to eat their meal at the athletic banquet.

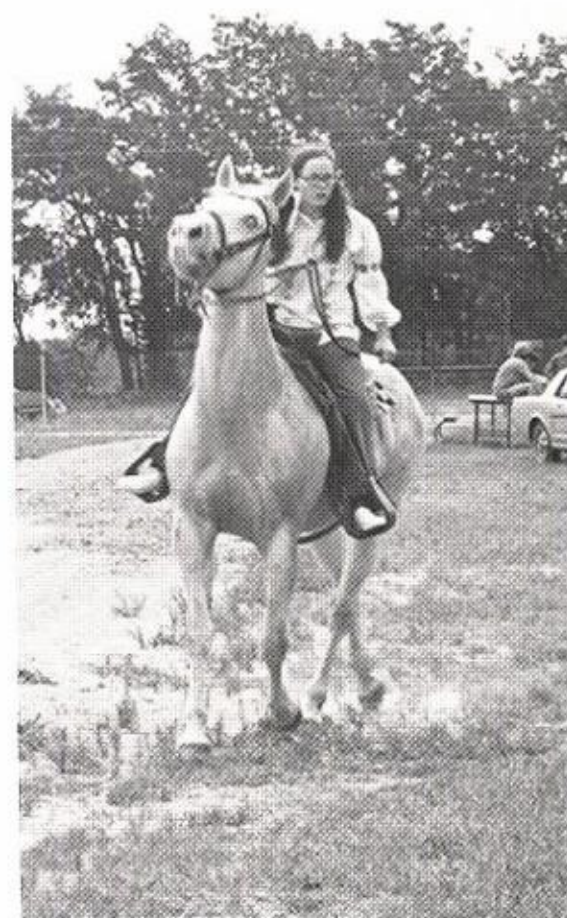

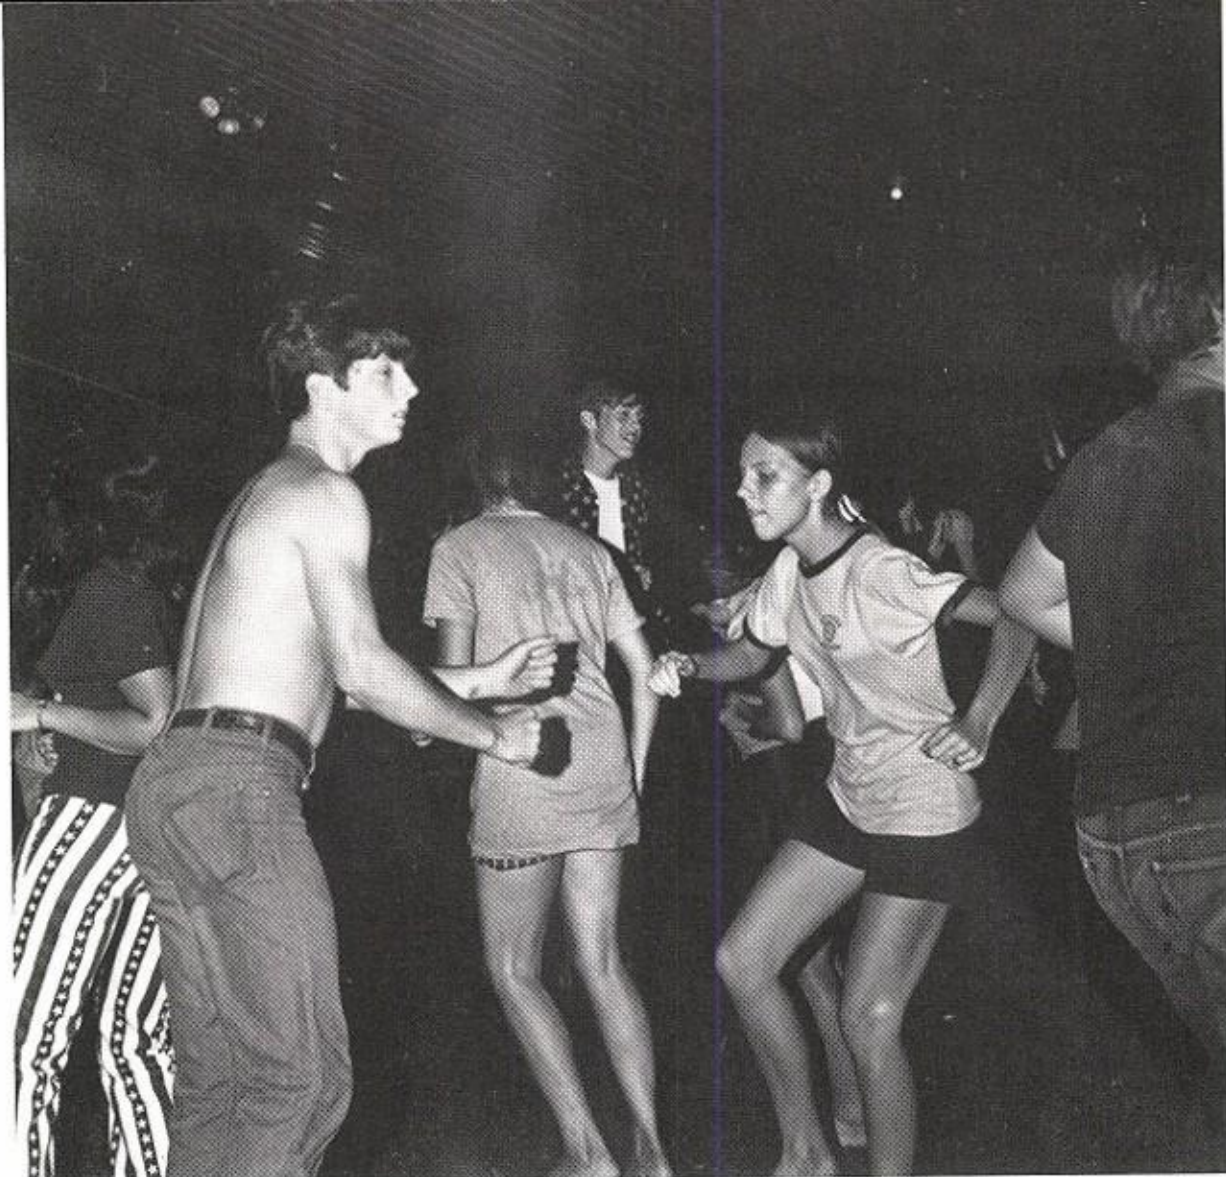

The theme of this year's junior-senior prom was "A Tahitian Dream." The party favors were booklets to record memories of the evening. Refreshments were served by sophomores dressed as island natives. Music was provided by the Thirteenth Hour.

Senior Day for 1971 was held at Loy Lake Park. It was a day with many sports including horseback riding, swimming, volleyball, horseshoe pitching, pingpong, and dancing. The music was provided by The Fak-Tre.

The 1971 Graduation was the first year for commencement exercises to be held outside. It was also the first year to have a black and gold tassel, and the girls to wear gold gowns. The guest speaker was Rev. Furlong, Episcopalian Minister.

SALUTATORY ADDRESS

This year's graduating class of Denison High School has chosen as its theme "Our World: To Know, To Care, To Do." These three actions are like three pieces of a jigsaw puzzle, that when fitted together properly can unleash more power than most minds could ever imagine. This is the power to create peace and further tolerance among nations; the power to end wars and unrest; the power to alleviate poverty and disease and to curb pollution. However, these pieces of the puzzle, if left alone or not fitted together properly could be worthless.

This puzzle is a very simple one; but it is one that not many people have managed to complete, maybe the solution is so obvious or maybe it is overlooked because people are always trying a more complicated or intricate solution.

A man might not appreciate his home until he is about to lose it; this is the case that now threatens our world; a world which has been taken for granted so long as a horn of plenty; a horn that is now growing empty rapidly.

Our air and water are no longer fresh; our resources are dwindling; there are international disputes and tensions, as well as world-wide economic disorders; this has led many to realize that something must be done.

This crisis has now opened many eyes to the simple solution of our jigsaw puzzle. A solution to the problems of "Our World" that starts with the placement of the first piece of the puzzle "To Know." The people of the world must awaken to the major problems of their environment, not only to the problems in ecology, but to the political and economical problems, also.

Once this has been achieved the second piece of the puzzle "To Care" must be interlocked with the first.

People, once made aware of the problems that face them, must care enough for themselves as well as others to do something about them.

This leads to the completion of the puzzle with pieces one and two interlocked with the third piece "To Do."

It is this third piece that is the most important, for it is not enough for people "To Know" and "To Care" about their problems: They must take some sort of action to solve them, and the only way any accomplishment can be brought about is through a large and willing group of people working together in harmony or just in tolerance of one another toward a common goal.

Our hope of creating a better world will hinge on this idea and solution of our "knowing," "caring," and "doing."

It is up to us here tonight "to do" our part in spreading this basic solution and of making it work. We can do this by putting it to use in our home, in our community, in our state, and in our nation, finally leading to a world working together.

Remember, this is the only world we have, and we must "know," we must "care," and we must "do."

GEOFFREY MORRISON, SALUTATORIAN
SENIOR CLASS OF 1971

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

We, the graduating seniors of 1971, have come to the time in our lives when we must leave our high school and enter the world ahead of us. We are just starting to take our places in the world. We are the adults and leaders of tomorrow.

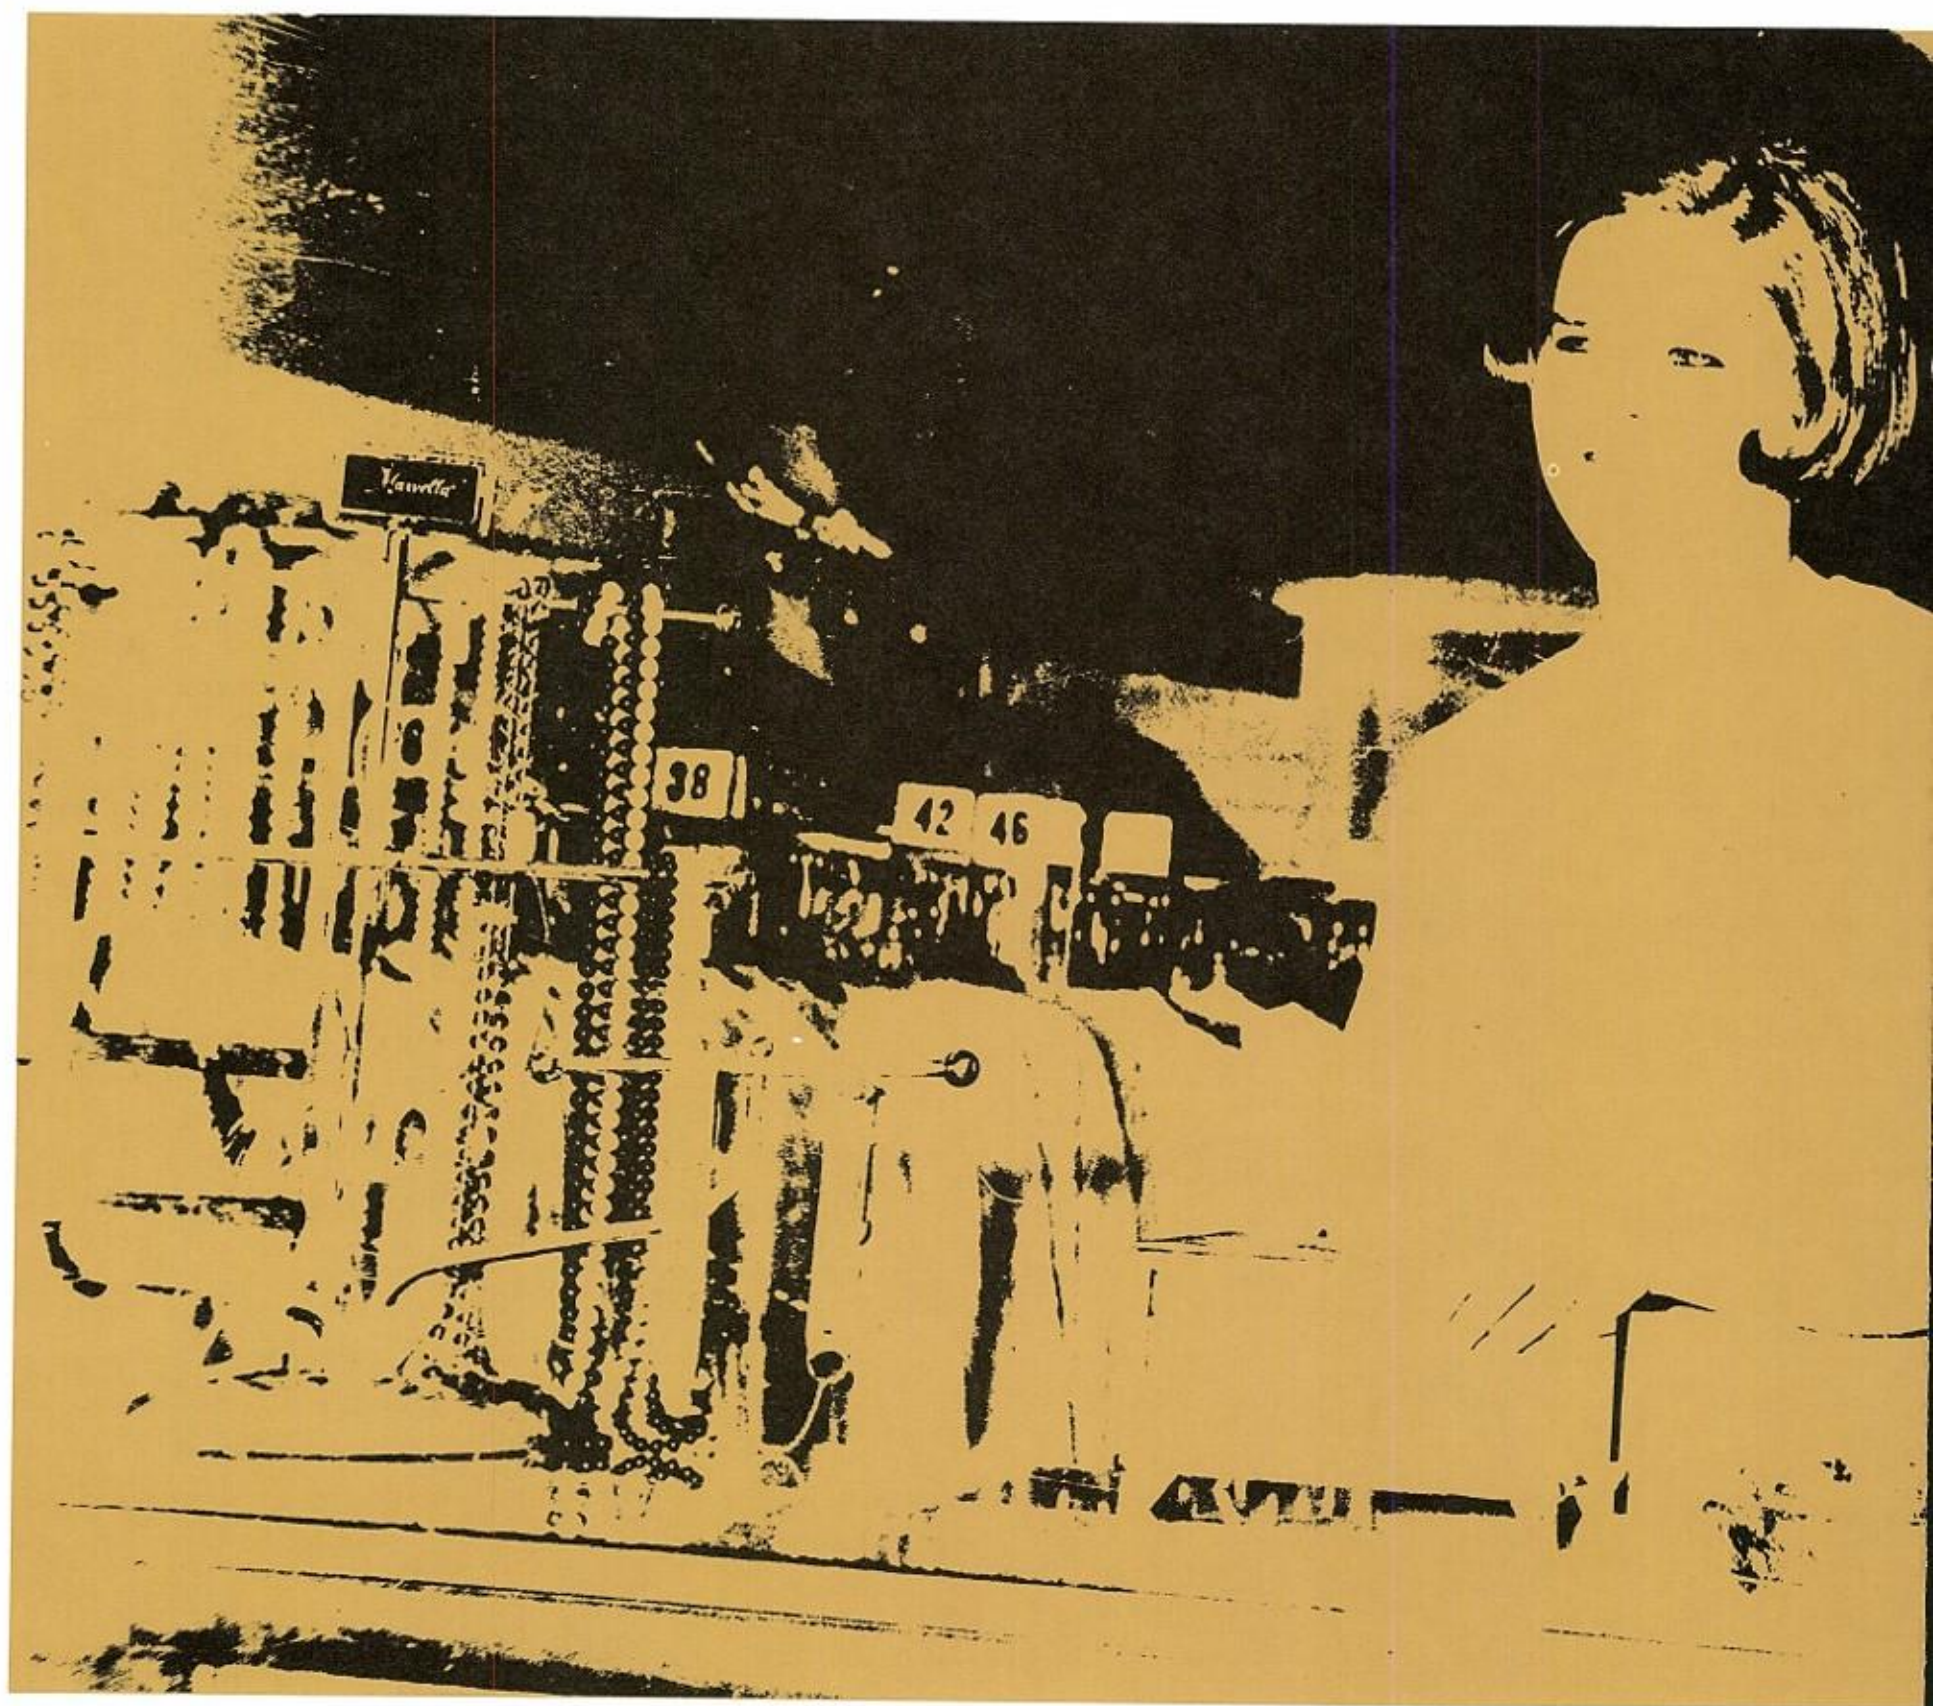

What will we do with this world we will inherit? Before we can improve the world, we must know about it. Our twelve years of formal education have provided us with a large store of knowledge about the world. All through these years you parents and teachers have given us a road map showing us the mountains and valleys of life and pointing to the best roads to follow. Our schools, churches, and parents have marked roads not to take. This knowledge that we have acquired is invaluable and will help pave the way ahead for us. Of course, we all know that even the best map is not perfect. Fires, floods, and superhighways are changing our land from day to day and from year to year. In much the same way, current events affect the world situation every day. Therefore, when something destroys one of our bridges, we must change our course and trust our own experience and judgement to carry us through.

The knowledge of all the brilliant people who ever lived is useless, however, if we do not care about the world. We must care about our next-door neighbor, the stranger we meet on the street, and our unknown brothers in far-off lands. But we must go even one step farther than just caring. We must care enough to give of ourselves and actually strive to get something done. Life does not hang its rewards and accomplishments on a tree to be picked like fruit whenever we please. In order to accomplish our goals, we must be willing to accept our responsibilities and face the hardships, trials, and doubts that will come.

Each of us here tonight has this obligation to attempt to make this world a better place. We have an obligation to our parents, our friends, our community, our country, and most of all, to ourselves. We must take a long look at our accumulated store of knowledge and experiences. From these we must choose the things we find good and true and worth preserving. We must destroy, demolish, and block out all the things that we find harmful and dishonest. They must not be handed down to generations to come. If we do this, each of us will have done his share in improving our world.

As we set about to accomplish this goal, we should remember these things: We must make a success of our lives. We must improve our world. We must do our part to keep America great. Class of 1971, let's not disappoint them!

TOM DEFRANGE
Editor-in-Chief

The 1971 Yellow Jacket is composed of many unseen hours of planning, working and studying. This book is the largest in the schools history and is the most complete. The summer delivery allows the staff to give the most complete coverage of REFLECTIONS of 71. With complete coverage the staff makes this not just an annual but a yearbook, one that will be treasured in the years to come. The staff would like to express its appreciation for the cooperation given by the many people in the school and around Denison, which have made the production of this book possible.
